Students Win Scholarships For Second Time

Four Clemson Students have been selected by the College Scholarship committee to receive the scholarships established by the Interchemical Corporation.

Thomas E. Boyce, a textile engineering senior from Joanna, and Henry R. Kuemmerer, a chemistry senior of Walhalla, were re-awarded the scholarships having held them as juniors during the last school year.

Receiving the scholarships for the first time were Richard P. Hogner of Greenville and Edmund B. Jones of Columbia, both juniors in industrial physics.

These recipients will each receive $250 to defray their expenses during the current school year.

The Interchemical Corporation established the scholarship fund at Clemson in 1953 to aid worthy students in textile chemistry, textile engineering, general chemistry, physics or other related fields. The awards are made on the basis of need, scholarship, ability, character and leadership potential.

All of the winners this year are honor students. Both Hogner and Jones are married men with children.

Prof. Goodale Speaks To Soph. YMCA Council

The Sophomore "Y" Council met for the first time in their newly acquired clubroom downstairs in the Y. M. C. A. The meeting was called to order by the president, C. G. Hughes. Chaplain Hugh McLaurin presented the devotional. Hugh then introduced the speaker, Prof. Ben Goodale.

Prof. Goodale gave a timely and interesting talk on the "Danger Signals" of life. The speaker also stated that the disciplinary problems at Clemson are small compared to other large colleges and universities in this area. However, the discipline at Clemson could stand a great bit of improvement.

Following Prof. Goodale's talk, various club business was discussed, and Hughes closed the meeting.

The next meeting will be held in the clubroom, Monday, Oct. 17. Any sophomores interested in joining the Sophomore "Y" Council are invited to attend this meeting.

Little Theatre To Open Season With "The Tender Trap"

The Clemson Little Theatre will open its season with a comedy "The Tender Trap". The production is not a stereotyped comedy, but is designed for adult entertainment.

The story is about a girl who wants marriage instead of a career and a "playboy" who is a confirmed bachelor.

Mr. R. E. Ware, who directed the comedy "See How They Run" last season, will also direct this production. The Producer is Dr. Gilbert Miller. They are looking for as many new faces as possible from the student body.

The drive for new members is now in full swing. The aim of the group is to have five hundred new students join. Season tickets cost one dollar for students and two dollars for adults. With the purchase of a season ticket one automatically becomes a member of the group. The admission at the door will be one dollar.

The Little Theatre is planning to present five plays this season, the first of which will be in late November.

Square And Compass Plan Club Elections

The Square and Compass Club will hold an important meeting on Thursday, October 13, at 6:15 p. m. The election of new officers is scheduled for this meeting, and all members are urged to attend. Also, plans for a degree team will be discussed.

The meeting will be held at the Lodge Hall, Clemson.

Marterie Plays For Homecoming

The Central Dance Association of Clemson College, which sponsored the Rat Hop, has contracted Ralph Marterie to play for the Homecoming dances on November 11 and 12. This is the first time that he has appeared at a Clemson dance. Plans for the dance are indefinite but will be announced soon.

Ralph Marterie's band was voted "America's Best" by a juke box operators poll in 1954. He records for Mercury Records, and is famous for such recordings as "Caravan", "Pretend", "Crazy Man Crazy", "Skokiaan", "Blue Magic" and others.

In the freshman elections for class officers and representatives to the Student Assembly Tuesday, October 11, Bobby Erwin was chosen to head the freshman class.

Carolina-Clemson Key Clubs Sponsor Dance After Game

The Clemson and Carolina Blue Key fraternities are co-sponsoring an informal dance at Carolina on Wednesday night, October 19. This dance will follow the Clemson-Carolina freshman game, to be played at 8:00 p. m., Wednesday night.

The new Student Union Building at Carolina, the Russell House, will be the scene of this annual dance event. Music will be provided by Tony Torre. The hours for the dance are 10:00 p. m.-1:00 a. m. The admission will be $1.00, stag or drag.

CAROLINA TICKETS

More details of the distribution procedure and regulations regarding the use of Clemson-Carolina game tickets were released this week by Mr. E. P. Willimon, business manager of athletics.

Student ticket receipts will be exchanged for seat tickets at the gate to the Carolina stadium. Each student will be required to present his identification card at the time he picks up the seat tickets. There will be four lines leading into the stadium, two each through gates eight and nine. Above each gate will be a placard giving the numbers of the student receipts that should be presented for tickets at that particular gate.

The stadium gates will open at eleven a. m., rather than at noon as previously announced. Students should be prepared to stay within the stadium once they enter; no person can leave and return by presenting a ticket stub.

At each gate there will be individuals from each class who are acquainted with the members of that class. These people will check to make sure there are no illegal entries. Any person who has an incorrect ticket will be delayed in entering the stadium.

Any person who signs for a ticket and does not use it personally or tries to let someone else use it, will be turned over to the Senior Council, for any action it may desire.

It was emphasized by Mr. Willimon that students do not actually buy any Carolina game tickets, except date tickets, and that there should be no question of the student wanting to "sell a ticket that he has paid for." Each student at Clemson pays an activities fee in his tuition. This activities fee is used to pay for the concert programs, the recreational facilities of the college, etc. Only $6.50 of the activities fee goes to the Athletic Department; in return, the student is given entrance to all home games and receives one ticket to the Carolina game for his own. A portion of the activities fee going to the Athletic Department is also used for the maintenance of equipment, expenses of running the team, etc.

Students are urged to read the signed statement on each identification card regarding the use of tickets and privileges.

The officers of the club are McCoy Johnston, president; LeGrand King, vice-president; Gene Kize, secretary; B. J. Heaton, treasurer; Brunson Westbury, social chairman; George Knight, chaplain; and Lewis Jordan, reporter.

Monday Begins Sale Of Tiger Pictures

These large, colorful prints bearing the well-known Hunter, '49 in the corner are suitable for framing and would be equally attractive in the college room or the family den.

A junior class committee headed by John Henry Turner is in charge of sales. The pictures will be sold throughout the dorms for several weeks by the members of the junior class and will also be sold on the Loggia preceding the Homecoming game.

TAPS NOTICE

The TAPS photographers will return to the campus on Monday to complete Senior class and special club pictures. The hours will be from 1 until 5 and from 6 until 9 Monday. This will be the last chance for students to have these pictures made. All seniors and members of the Scabbard and Blade, Arnold Air Society, Pershing Rifles, Senior Platoon, 4th Reg't Hq. Pershing Rifles and all R. O. T. C. Reg't. Staff, Bn. Staff, and Co. Commanders are urged to come in on Monday if they plan to be represented in TAPS.

Also, all non-dormitory students being represented in the Senior Class Section are again urged to get Senior Information blanks from Mr. Rimmer in the Dormitory Manager's Office on the Loggia. These blanks must be turned in by Saturday of this week if the information is to be used with the student's picture in the Senior Section.

The deadline for returning club contracts to the TAPS office has been set at Friday, October 28. All clubs are asked to cooperate with the TAPS staff by returning these contracts before the deadline. Club presidents are also urged to turn in all club information for TAPS writeups as soon as possible.

The TAPS office is located on the 4th floor of the Student Center and is open each week night after 8 o'clock. Information may also be mailed to TAPS, Box 3566.

Who Is Right About Tickets? Administration Or Students?

THERE has been quite an uproar during the past two weeks about the ticket situation for the Carolina game. The student body has come forth with numerous accusations about the matter. Few hold water and the remainder are rather incoherent at times. But there are some that are true.

The student body was definitely surprised with the news of the new method of handling the tickets this year. True, there was some advance warning about the distribution but many questions were left unanswered. No one seemed to have the answers to these questions and many people were quite upset about their plans for the State Fair holidays. Maybe next time more complete information will be given.

One of the main arguments that the student seems to have is that they should have a ticket to the game and be allowed to do what they want to with it. What many students do not know is that they do not pay $4.80 for these tickets. No Clemson student is deprived of the opportunity to go to the State Fair game. Many do not choose to go for reasons of their own and yet they want to sell a ticket which they did not buy and pocket the money. By "scalping" these tickets, many students are depriving their fellow classmates of obtaining a date ticket to take his girl, a member of his family, or a close friend. Is this fair? There is a statement on every student's identification card which should be read by all.

Another fault the student body has found with the new idea is that it will take forever to get into the Carolina stadium to see the game. Many think that they will have to get in line the night before to get their seats. But who knows how fast the lines will move? Has anyone positive knowledge that the lines will move slow? The administration has said that there will be no bottleneck. The mechanics have been worked out and the lines should flow through smoothly. If every student has his receipt stubs and ID card ready there should be no delay. Why not wait until after the game to gripe about the bottleneck?? It might be a wise thing to do.

The student body has complained bitterly about this year's distribution of tickets. Yet they have done it behind closed doors and in small groups. No one has tried to find out the answers to these perplexing questions. Why doesn't the student assembly have an open forum and have a member of the administration give some answers and answer some questions? Nothing can be accomplished by talking among yourselves. If you are wrong, you have no right to gripe. But if you are right, get together and prove it to somebody besides each other. But just make sure you are right. This does not apply to the ticket situation alone.

THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SMOOCH

Back in my courting days (the raccoon coat was all the rage, everybody was singing Good Morning, Mr. Zip, Zip, Zip and young Bonaparte had just left Corsica) back, I say, in my courting days, the standard way to melt a girl's heart was to write poetry to her.

Young men today have abandoned this gambit, and I must say I don't understand why. Nothing is quite as effective as poetry for moving a difficult girl. What's more, poems are ridiculously easy to write. The range of subject matter is endless. You can write a poem about a girl's hair, her eyes, her nose, her lips, her teeth, her walk, her talk, her clothes, her shoes—anything at all. Indeed, one of my most lament love lyrics was called To Maud's Pencil Box. It went like this:

*In your dear little leatherette pencil box
Are pencils of yellow and red,
And if you don't tell me you love me soon,
I'll hit you on top of the head.*

Honesty compels me to admit that this poem fell short of success. Nothing daunted, I wrote another one. This time I pulled a switch; I threatened myself instead of Maud.

*Oh, Maud, pray stop this drivell
And tell me you'll be mine,
For my sweetbreads they do shrivel
And wind around my spine.*

*My heart doth cease its beating.
My spleen uncoils and warps.
My liver stops secreting.
Soon I needs be a corpse.*

When this heart-rending ballad failed to move Maud, I could only conclude that she was cruel and heartless and that I was better off without her. Accordingly, I took back my Hi-Y pin, bid her adieu, and have not clapped eyes upon her since. Last I heard of her, she was in North Scituate, Rhode Island, working as a clam sorter.

But I did not mourn Maud long, for after Maud came Doris—Doris of the laughing eyes, Doris of the shimmering hair, Doris of the golden tibiae! Within moments of meeting her, I whipped up a torrent of trochaic tetrameter:

*Oh, my sweet and dulcet Doris!
You're gentle as a Philip Morris,
With its mild and rich tobacco
And its white and scarlet pack-o,
Both in regular and king-size.
Doris, tell me please your ring size.*

Well, of course, the poor girl couldn't resist a poem like that—what girl could?—and she instantly became my slave. For the rest of the semester she carried my books, washed my car, and cored my apples. There's no telling where it all would have ended if she hadn't been drafted.

So, men, you can see the efficacy of poetry as an aid to wooing. Try it soon. All you need is a rhyming dictionary, a quill pen, and a second-hand muse.

The makers of PHILIP MORRIS, sponsors of this column, give you no rhyme, but plenty of reason, for smoking Philip Morris: It's the gentlest, pleasantest cigarette on the market today.

Senior Platoon is Dying Financially But is Not Passing Away Spiritually

By FRANK ANDERSON

—THE DEAD PLATOON

Is the Senior Platoon dead? I pose this question after hearing various rumors around the campus from very reliable sources. Are the group of seniors who have brought so much favorable publicity to the college fading away? Some sources will say that the platoon holds as much importance now as it ever has but certain facts point in the opposite direction.

Evidently the college is not behind the platoon. They expect or have expected this organization to make trips, represent the college and bring favorable publicity to the institution with almost no support. Is this fair to the present members of the platoon or to the Clemson alumni who were once members of this drill organization? It is a known fact that the college sends other organizations on trips as representatives of the college.

Take the band for instance. They get their expenses paid for every trip they make. This year is a good example. The band is receiving an all-expense paid trip to the Auburn game in Mobile, Alabama, next month. The Senior Platoon is supposed to make the trip to Roanoke, Virginia, for the V. P. I. game, but there is a very great probability that this group of seniors won't get a "red cent" for expenses. I'm not taking a thing away from the band. It seems to be a well managed organization, but maybe the Senior Platoon deserves a little credit, too. It's no fun to "roll out of the sack" every morning at six and practice drilling. A repeat performance every night after supper makes being a member of this organization a lot of work. The fun comes on the trips, but even this is knocked out when you have to "sweat" buying a hamburger for dinner or when you get stalled sixty-nine miles from nowhere because the gas money has run out.

You might say, "Well, why be a member of the platoon if it is such a headache?" The Senior Platoon is built on the strongest foundation you can have—PRIDE, and it is human nature to put pride above everything else.

While we are making comparisons with the band, let me ask you this. Which organization is the most unique? Although our band may be the best, basically, it is no different from any other college or high school band in the nation. You don't find a Senior Platoon at any other school in the nation. People who have seen the platoon drill before may think it is "old stuff," but the impression sets deepest in the people who are seeing it for the first time.

Maybe the Senior Platoon will die eventually with the cadet corps being killed, but while it is alive the college should support it rather than treat it like a "red-headed step-child."

—THEY'LL PROBABLY CHAIN US TO OUR SEATS WHEN WE GET IN THE GAME

I think by this time that everyone understands and disapproves the Carolina ticket situation, but evidently it is too late for us to do anything about it. It seems that officials conveniently announced the ruling too late for the student body to gripe sufficiently. It may still be time to get one thing changed—that is the time that we pick up our tickets. The little placards that have been distributed around the campus say that tickets will be passed out beginning at 11:00. With nearly three thousand students having to pick up their tickets before kick-off time, it seems that a terrific bottleneck will be formed. It seems that these booths could be opened at least by ten o'clock. We would like to get into the game by halftime at least.

A Word To The Wise

By Joe Bowen

I'm sure you have all heard the old saying "give credit where credit is due." Certainly we'll all agree that this should be followed. But is it? Do we take too much for granted as we go through life? Do we ever slow our pace and take time to enjoy the world around us? We might be amazed with the blessings that we daily encounter. Even if we do this, do we then realize where all these blessings come from? This is what I mean by giving credit where credit is due.

No, we're too rushed in our daily life to see such wonders. Yet, we live in a free country, attend a "great" college and never know hunger. We have become so accustomed to these things that we forget their value. We have made essentials of them instead of blessings. We haven't time to recognize these blessings because we're too busy enjoying them.

Do you think it is asking too much of you to pause just a moment each day and give thanks to the Giver of these blessings? I hardly think so. Is a moment of our time too much in turn for the life of Christ? He gave His life, yet we're only asked to give a few minutes of each day. Surely this is not asking too much. What I'm trying to get across is that we should take a little time each day to give thanks. We should have an individual thanksgiving 365 days of the year. Certainly if we did we would realize what God has given us.

The moment of triumph is always very dangerous because you believe that you have made your book, your picture, your drama, your symphony, your victory, poor fool! poor fool! Do you realize that you are merely the glove on the hand of God?

Need I say more than repeat, "Do YOU realize that YOU are merely the glove on the hand of God?"

TALK OF THE TOWN . . .

Hoses Lose Heads Over Nothing Fire Nozzles Now Collector's Items

By Charles Sanders

MYSTERY OF THE WEEK

Are they used only for calling the miler-mo bird? Are they being melted down and sold for scrap? Are people all switching over to high-pressure hoses for their lawns these days? Are they better funnels than the standard glass variety? To put it bluntly, just what the heck is the attraction of those fire-nozzles that people are collecting these days?

It's true that the current rage in home decorations is for things utilitarian, but after all, a hose nozzle isn't THAT useful. Nobody wants a milermo molting on the floors, the scrap isn't worth eleven cents (the current per capita market rate of nozzles), very few people in this part of the backwoods water their lawns in the winter anyhow, and as funnels, the delivery rate of nozzles is strictly limited.

Now of course we could explain the disappearance of the hose pieces by saying they were made of a metal which vaporized in the normal Clemson atmosphere (thick fog) or that water trickled on them and shrunk them out of recognizable shape, but that would be just slightly more ridiculous than saying that somebody possessed of ordinary college-level intelligence would take the objects with no reasonable purpose in mind. No, there must be some less fantastic explanation for the fact that those nozzles are missing all over the place.

We would like to propose that a committee be formed out of disinterested students (i.e. students who haven't had to shell out for misplaced college property) if a sufficient number thereof can be found. This committee would bear some title such as "Committee for the Location and Repatriation of Displaced Hose Nozzles" and would have the job of uncovering and recovering all those nozzles not nearly attached to the end of a hose.

Come to think of it, though, a committee such as this is really hardly necessary. So what if the nozzles are missing? Let them stay gone. After all, increased tuition will absorb the cost of higher insurance rates imposed because of the deficiency in fire protection devices. And if we should have a fire, all that can burn is a few wooden cabinets, and student books, student equipment, student clothes, and students. It won't hurt the college.

ORCHIDS OF THE WEEK

Last Saturday night, in a fog-filled football stadium, from the dank, dark depth of the soggy stands came a thrilling cry: "Go get 'em, Tigers!" The sound seemed to emanate from a cluster of orange heads, but when the fog cleared a little it was our pleasure to see the freshmen who attended the game sitting in a group and cheering lustily for the Tiger Cub team.

It was a distinct pleasure to see the freshmen put on a display of spirit such as this. It used to be a popular campus supposition that the freshmen would cheer and yell only at the forcible urging of an upperclassman. We are pleased to see that this is a supposition not founded on fact. Those freshmen who raised a little Cain at the rat game are to be commended, and the rest of the freshmen would do well to follow their spirited example. And it might not hurt a few other people of, shall we say, the upper classes, to go forth and do in a similar manner.

YOU MISSED ONE

True to the prediction in this column week before last, a harvest was held in the bush boxes on the upper quadrangle. The harvesters netted enough grass to tempt a cow to open her mouth, and enough other material to poison her if she did.

Now, with the exception of one particularly lusty tomato plant and a number of small bushes which are supposed to be there, all of the extraneous plants have been removed from the bush boxes. If the students will just quit throwing trash there, the Department of Cultivation of Crops in Unusual Places will have it made.

Oh, by the way, it might be a very good idea for someone in the Higher Offices to see what he can do about putting a few trash containers in strategic but inconspicuous spots around the quadrangle so that the students will have a suitable place to toss all unusable trash.

WANTED—TO BUY

Hose Nozzles—used or unused. Will pay premium prices for best specimens. See the Mangling Editor (Garbled Copy Dept.) at the TIGER office, any night this week after eleven.

DISC-O-PATION

By Mack McDaniel

There seems to be some confusion about terminology, and this may be an appropriate time for some explanation of a few basic terms that have been tossed around in this column lately. R and B (Rock and Roll) and Dixieland jazz are not the same and please don't confuse them. They are two extremely opposite types of music. Rhythm and Blues has had a great deal of criticism and rightly so. All of the better musicians scorn it. Dixieland, on the other hand, is played by some of our finest musicians. Most of the great jazz names of today grew up in an environment of New Orleans music. A few of these great personalities are: Louis Armstrong, Jack Teagarden, Jimmy Dorsey, Eddie Condon, and Ray Edridge.

We'll have to admit that the beginnings were anything but "esthetic" (if it may be permitted to use that word). Jazz began in the speakeasies and cheap dance halls but wasn't that the best way to present the new medium to the average person? It's greatness allowed it to overcome the powerful and prudish barrier of prohibition and the speakeasies were the only course. It emerged from these early beginnings and is now enjoying an era of prestige and acknowledgement as an esthetic force. Proof of this is its acceptance by Europe as an art form and its appearance in the leading concert halls of the nation.

The latest great on the list of 12" LPS is the one called "Sarah Vaughan". It's on the Emarcy label and is Sarah at her absolute best. She sings such great tunes as Lullaby of Birdland, April in Paris, He's My Guy, Embraceable You, and September Song.

Trumpeter Les Elgart was born in New Haven, Conn. He and his brother, Larry, received musical training early in life, thanks to the influence of their mother, a former concert pianist.

When he was still in his teens, Les auditioned for and won a job with the late, great Bunny Berigan. Later he joined Woody Herman's orchestra, and then moved over to the musical staff of the Columbia Broadcasting System. Then, with the idea of a dance orchestra whirling around in his head, he resigned, and organized his present great group.

One of his more recent recordings is Just One More Dance. It is the kind of music that dance bands play when the lights are being dimmed, the dance is over, and only a few couples are left on the floor, stretching out the last pleasant moments as long as possible, perhaps with their coats already on. Some of the tunes in the album are: Meet Me Tonight In Dreamland, I Don't Know Why, Darn That Dream, When Day Is Done, Night And Day, Stardust, Dream, I'll Be Seeing You, and I'll See You In My Dreams.

Student Assembly

By Hugh McLaurin

This is the first in a series of columns concerning happenings in your Student Assembly.

Clemson has gone through, and continues to enter, a multitude of changes. These innovations have made necessary certain changes in the constitution of the student body. The absence of the cadet corps is the cause of the appointment of the eighth member of the Senior Council. In previous years the cadet officer of highest rank has served as one of the ex-officio members of the council. Now instead of electing seven members to the Senior Council, the amendment will have eight members selected. The Assembly is also presenting for the student body's approval a change in the required grade-point ratio for Student Government officers. The change is from 2.5 to a 2.0. These and other minor changes will appear in the TIGER before the student body votes on their ratification.

The possibility of setting up a campus radio station was discussed by the Assembly. Music and announcements concerning the students would be the main purpose of the station. A committee has been set up to look into the cost and many other details concerning the station. The station will be run by the students altogether.

Freshman regulations were read to the Assembly as approved by Dean of Students Cox. These regulations were presented to the freshmen during an orientation program which was directed by the Student Government. President of the Student Body Jimmy Humphries, made comments concerning Clemson's traditions and school spirit. Dean Cox opened the meeting and introduced Bill Rawl, chairman of Senior Council, and Capt. Frank Jervy. Capt. Jervy gave a brief pep talk. Prof. Hugh McGarity taught the freshmen three Clemson songs. Jimmy Humphries presented the freshman regulations as passed by the Student Assembly and approved by Dean Cox. The "rats" received these regulations with a great deal of enthusiasm.

The complete organization of the Freshman Council is now in progress. Enforcement of the regulations is up to each member of the Student Body. A few delinquents can ruin a newly established tradition. A report on the delinquents to any member of the Student Government can lead to corrective measures.

A note of unrest was sounded in the Assembly when the new ticket policy for the Carolina-Clemson game was announced. A committee was formed to investigate the reason for the change in policy. If you are dissatisfied with the situation, why not see your class representative?

To The Seniors

By Johnny Blackmon

A Senior Class Project

Just what is a class project? Of course, it is a project, and naturally it is put on by the class; but to go a little farther it implies one hundred per cent cooperation and participation by all concerned. Another concept of it would be that it is a project decided upon by the class as a whole. This is my idea of what a project is.

Every year since we have been in college and for quite a few years before that, the senior class has undertaken as its class project the selling of insurance. The idea was to sell every senior a policy, and he was to have the first hundred dollars dividends go to the senior class. If, however, the senior already had a policy or for some other reason, he could give five dollars a year for twenty years. At the fifteenth reunion the class was to decide what to do with the money.

Basically this is a very good idea, but year after year it has failed to produce any large amount of participation. It is a good idea for a college graduate to have an insurance policy, and the firm selected was an old and well established company. The policies offered were very good, and contributing by dividends is much easier than from the pocket. But this plan has never worked very well with usually less than ten per cent participation. Some seniors already had policies, some preferred another company, some felt it was too much money, and some just did not have it to give.

What the class project is and how it will be handled will be decided later this year, but I think that whatever it is, every one should take part in it. I would rather see every senior give a dollar than for twenty to give one hundred dollars each.

I also think that if possible the project should be decided upon and at least started before we graduate. Fifteen years from now there will be very few of us who will be able to return to Clemson for a reunion.

There will be a committee appointed to suggest and to review suggestions as possible projects and the means for raising money.

American Ceramic Society Hold Meet

One phase of Clemson's research in ceramic engineering is receiving nationwide attention this week at the fall meeting of the American Ceramic Society being held in St. Louis, Mo.

Professor Gilbert C. Robinson, head of the Ceramic Engineering Department at Clemson, is giving a paper entitled "A Control Laboratory For Small Plants". It will disclose some of the new procedures and equipment being developed in the college's modern ceramic facilities provided by The Olin Foundation to make Clemson a leader in the field of ceramic research and education.

This fall meeting of the American Ceramic Society is held principally for clay products manufacturers and most of the major plants in this field will be represented.

Professor Robinson is chairman-elect of this group and will preside over a portion of the meeting. Other officers are from the Ceramics Industry.

Anyone who is interested in working on this committee should contact a class officer.

Quite a few projects have already been suggested. A quick rundown on these include: a college swimming pool, an annual scholarship, sponsoring the senior platoon (which has almost no outside money), sponsoring the cheerleaders, a new statue for the college, an arch over the entrances to the college grounds, a live tiger for a college mascot.

Some of these suggestions are good, some not so good. The supply is unlimited and it doesn't cost anything to think about them. If you have any ideas, mark them "Senior Class Project" and drop them by room B-608. All will be appreciated, and all will be considered. What would you like for your class to do?

Nine Are Initialed Into Alpha Zeta

Alpha Zeta, the national honorary agricultural fraternity on campus, recently initiated nine members into the organization. The eligibility requirement consists of a G. P. R. of 3.1 for juniors and 2.8 for seniors.

The following members were initiated: N. L. Huggins, agronomy major from Johnsonville; J. D. Hicks, agronomy major from Effingham; B. T. McDaniel, dairying major from Pickens; J. F. Wyman, animal husbandry major from Estill; W. P. DuBose, entomology major from Darlington; J. C. Langston, entomology major from Hartsville; R. F. Burnett, agricultural engineering major from Greenwood; S. A. Jarvin, agricultural engineering major from Sumter; and D. F. Borchert, vocational agricultural education major from Greenville.

The purposes of the fraternity are to promote the interests of agriculture, the furtherance of scholarships in agricultural fields, and to guide the agricultural students now in school.

Dean Sams Plays Important Role In Conference

Dean James H. Sams of the Clemson College School of Engineering is currently playing an important part in two conferences of national consequence to the engineering profession.

This weekend he is attending the twenty-third annual meeting of the Engineers' Council for Professional Development being held in Toronto, Canada. Besides attending the administrative and executive sessions, he will lead a discussion on student development in the open session of the conference.

Next week-end he will go to Washington, D. C., for the annual meeting of the National Council of State Boards of Engineering Examiners. As chairman of a special committee on annual meetings he will present a report to the business session. Among the subjects to be discussed at this meeting are uniform examinations for engineers-in-training and professional ratings, satisfactory qualifying experience for registration and registration by endorsement.

PSA Holds Questionnaire For Program

The Presbyterian Student Association met on Wednesday evening, October 5. The meeting was at 6:15 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church.

PSA president, Zane Brock, conducted the meeting that was attended by approximately 25 students. The program was in charge of Dr. Crouch, minister to Presbyterian students at Clemson, who divided the group into smaller groups for discussion of several questions that are important to all college students. These smaller groups later reassembled to compare their various views on the questions. This concluded the evening's program.

PSA meetings are held every Wednesday evening at 6:15 p. m., and anyone who wishes to come is welcome.

Spartanburg County Club Plans Student Alumni Drop - In

All students from Spartanburg County are urged to attend an organizational meeting of the Clemson - Spartanburg County Club on Monday, October 17. The meeting will be held in room 1 of the Student Center at 8:00 p. m. Plans for a student-alumni drop-in during the Homecoming week-end and the annual Christmas dance will be discussed.

Letters To Tom

Dear Tom:

During the past few weeks there has been much discussion as to the attitude and conduct of the freshmen here on the campus. Recently there was a letter sent to you from "Three Angry Rats." This letter stated that oftentimes two or three in a crowd could bring discredit to many.

I'm inclined to believe this statement even so much as to add my comments. Possibly my way of thinking may conflict with those of many who are above me, but with the good American tradition of freedom of speech I feel that whatever I think I have the right to say.

I don't feel that where hundreds of boys are made to conform with traditions and rules passed from generation to generation, one or two should be allowed to sneak by just because they consider themselves above those around them.

I am referring to the two incidents which have occurred involving freshman football players. Both cases were entirely uncalled for and one even violated the common laws of decency. This case is well known besides being past all hopes of corrective measures. For this reason I won't discuss the matter further.

It seems that one of the freshman players has decided that, with the help of his teammates, he will not allow his hair to be cut. If he is not willing to stand beside Clemson Men in their traditions that have made Clemson what she is, then he should not be a Clemson man.

So Tom, I have spoken my piece for everyone to know that I want Clemson to be a place that we can all be proud of. I truly believe that the freshmen will soon conform to our new ideals as well as some of the old ones. When they do, then they can call themselves CLEMSON MEN.

Sincerely,
Richard D. Pugh

What young people are doing at General Electric

Young engineer pioneers in design and sales of new tiny transistors

The germanium transistor—some smaller than the eraser end of a pencil and able to operate on a few thousandths of a watt—is probably one of the most promising developments in the electronics field today. It opens the way to new midjet radios, TV sets flat enough to hang on a wall and many other exciting possibilities.

One of the men who helped design and perfect these tiny transistors—and the man who is now head of sales for all General Electric germanium products—is James H. Sweeney, Manager—Marketing, Semiconductor Products Department.

Sweeney's Work Interesting, Vital

As early as 1948, Sweeney was head of a group that studied the design and possible uses of germanium products. He gained national recognition for his work in developing and introducing these products to other industries, and when a new Semiconductor Products Department was formed in 1953, Sweeney was a natural choice for the job of marketing these products.

25,000 College Graduates at General Electric

When Sweeney came to General Electric in 1941, he worked in many different departments until he finally found the work he wanted to do. Like Sweeney, each of the 25,000 college-graduate employees is given the chance to grow, to find the work he does best, and to realize his full potential. For General Electric has long believed this: When fresh young minds are given the freedom to make progress, everybody benefits—the individual, the company, the country.

JAMES H. SWEENEY joined G.E. in 1941 after graduating with a B.S. degree in E.E. from the University of Pennsylvania. During World War II he served four years with the Army.

Tigers; Gamecocks Clash In State Fair Classic

By Louis Jordan

HOSPITALITY IN HOUSTON

Although the Tigers suffered their first loss of the season down at Rice, reports have come back through the few that made the trip, that Rice Institute was one of the most hospitable they ever visited.

This statement goes for both before and after the game. Several students left Clemson, on the spur of the moment and had no idea as to where they would stay after they got to Texas. It seems that some of the Rice students took them over after they got there and found them places to stay along with guided tours of the big Texas city.

This was an act of kindness on the part of the Rice students which will always be remembered by the loyal Tiger rooters who made the long trip.

EVEN A BAND

To show their hospitality before hand, the Rice officials appointed a high school band to represent Clemson at the games. It was band day at Rice and the good Texans did not want Clemson to go unrepresented at the game. They realized that Clemson College could not afford to send the Tiger band that far, so they just did what came naturally.

There was only one drawback to the situation. When questioned before the game as to what sort of music the band played, the band director informed the Clemson fans that they played everything but the "TIGER RAG." What a disappointment this was.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

Jim Coleman, one of Clemson's strongest halfbacks, has been running plays from quarterback this week. After the Rice game Coach Howard announced that, since Don King will probably see limited action for the rest of the season as a result of a knee injury in the game, he would need Jim to strengthen the quarterback position.

Howard says that he was pleased with Bussey's play in the Rice game, including a 97 yard touchdown drive from the Clemson three to the Rice goal. "We should do very well with Charlie Bussey, Coleman, and Bill Barbary," Howard says.

BIG MIX-UP

In the Rice game, surprises came fast and furious. One of the biggest surprises came the following day when the radio announcers and the sports writers found out that they had given credit to the wrong man for the Tiger touchdown.

Charlie Bussey, who had taken King's place, had engineered the touchdown drive from the Tiger three yard line. On the final scoring punch, Bussey faked a hand-off to Bill O'Dell. O'Dell went over the goal line but without the bay. Charlie then drove through. Although O'Dell went over it was Bussey who really made the touchdown.

CHEERLEADERS HAVE THE SPIRIT

Until Thursday afternoon of last week, the Clemson cheerleaders did not know if they were going to be able to make the trip to Texas. There has never been any more fenagling of any one group as the cheerleaders did on that afternoon. They went to see everybody that could possibly help them get some funds. Finally they succeeded in talking someone out of a little bit of cash and then proceeded to hunt transportation.

Around six-thirty that afternoon there was a tremendous amount of horn blowing behind the dormitories. The cheerleaders were leading a caravan of cars off to Texas.

Here's hoping that next time these worthy Tiger supporters won't have such a hard time in finding their way clear to make a trip.

BIG THURSDAY IS HERE AGAIN

Next Thursday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock (Columbia time), South Carolina's two biggest rivals will meet on the same old field in Columbia, S. C. This will mark the 53rd meeting of the two teams in the annual State Fair Classic in a rivalry which began back in 1896.

There was an elapse of six years, 1902 to 1907, when the two teams did not take the field. In the 52 previous meetings the Tigers have been the victors in 29 of the contests while the Gamecocks have won only 20. Three of the tilts have resulted in even scores.

A capacity crowd will certainly be on hand this year, as in past years, to support the team of their choice. Coach Howard has had no taste of victory in this great game for the past six years and will certainly have his charges at their peak for the coming game.

"GATOR" FARR BURIES THE GAMECOCK

There is a real treat in store for the freshmen this year. The old students here at Clemson will all know "Gator" Farr. "Gator" is one of the most avid fans of Clemson. Each year "Gator" comes to Clemson on the Tuesday night just before the Clemson-Carolina game. His chief aim is to "bury that d—m Gamecock, never to rise again."

"Gator" will preach the Gamecock's last rites at the pep meeting which will be held in the amphi-theater Tuesday night before the game.

BIG PEP RALLY

Eddie Andrews and his boys (and girls) are planning one of the biggest Pep Rallies of all times. They want the students to help them give "Gator" a big reception. Eddie got a letter from "Gator" in which he said, and I quote, "Last year the funeral wasn't as well attended as was some in the past." Let's get together to make this the best pep meeting he ever attended.

To do this Eddie wants volunteers to meet on the loggia next Tuesday afternoon to help decorate the amphi-thea-

Clemson Frosh Meet Biddies Wednesday

Coach Covington McMillan and his assistants will carry their strong freshman team to Columbia, S. C. on the 19th of October to engage the Biddies of the University of South Carolina. Clemson is out to even the score because of the defeat handed to them last year by the Carolina freshman.

So far this season the Biddies have remained undefeated. They beat North Carolina last week by a score of 13-0. Carolina will be led by King Dixon and John Dorsett. Last week against the Tar Babies both boys had a 51-yard run to their credit.

The Cubs are on the rebound after dropping their last game to Georgia Tech. Coach McMillan will probably start the same eleven that started against Tech. Halfback Rudy Hayes and quarterback Ted Moseley will carry most of the load for Clemson in the backfield. Buck Grover will probably give the same good showing that he has showed in the two previous games. In the last game Grover made several good catches as he scored two TD's for the Cubs.

Coach McMillan has been fortunate so far this year as none of his boys have received any serious injuries. The Cubs will be at full strength for the tilt with the USC frosh team.

In last week's game against Tech the freshmen had some experience in playing on a foggy field. The field was covered with a blanket of fog for almost the entire game. A little fog didn't seem to bother the Cubs too much. They connected with several short passes. In the event the field at Carolina is foggy on the 19th the Cubs should feel at home for the time being.

Wells And O'Dell Lead In A. C. C. Game Statistics

Statistics released by the ACC Service Bureau in Greensboro show that Joel Wells, Clemson's hard running and sharp defensive back, leads the ACC in rushing with a 6.2 average in four games. Bill O'Dell is second in this department with 4.1 average in 60 rushes.

Don King with 272 yards, Wells with 255, and O'Dell with 245 are 3, 4, and 5 in the total offense department. King is also second in passing.

ter. He hopes to have a bon-fire near the stadium. If these plans come through, then help will be needed to gather the makings.

If you have nothing to do next Tuesday afternoon, turn out and help these boys. This is a good way to show the Tiger team that you are behind them all the way.

Old Rivals Meet For 54th Annual Game

Thursday, October 20, 1955, marks the 54th anniversary of the annual State Fair Classic game. This game was begun in 1896, which was the first year that Clemson College ever fielded a football team. That year, not much was known about football, but still Carolina met the Clemson team.

After many disputed plays, and much discussion as to what was right and what was wrong, the Carolina team won the game 12-6. Next season, the Clemson men, with more experience, came back to defeat the Gamecocks 18-6.

Since that great year which marked the beginning of a new era in Clemson sports, the Clemson Tigers have played the Carolina Gamecocks 53 times. There was only one period in which the Tigers did not journey to the Capitol City and encounter the Carolinians. This was from 1901 until 1907.

Of the 53 games played thus far, the Country Gentlemen from the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains have captured 30. There have been three games in which neither team won. Of these three games two of them saw no score.

The highest score that has ever been run up in any one of the annual games was 51 points. This was made by Clemson in 1900. Carolina's largest number of points was 33, scored in 1925 and 1943.

This year, as every year, a capacity crowd is to be on hand in the 34,000 seat Carolina Stadium after they watched Carolina down Clemson 13-8 in their last meeting.

Clemson goes into the 1955 game with a 3 win 1 loss record again a 2 win 2 loss record for the Carolina team. Clemson has beaten Presbyterian College, University of Virginia and the University of Georgia while losing only to Rice Institute.

Captains for this year's Carolina team will be senior halfback Carl Brazell and senior center Hugh Bell. Clemson will have big center Wingo Avery and quarterback Don King as leaders.

Carolina boasts one of the A. C. C.'s best quarterbacks and passers, Mackie Prickett, a flashy junior who is being counted on for plenty of passes. Prickett's main target is Julius Derrick, a junior end. The two have been working together as a pair since they enrolled at Carolina.

When Prickett and Derrick can't make the yardage, then Brazell and Caskey will be called on to do the ground work. Both are seniors and have had plenty of experience. As of now Brazell has an average of 11.3 yards per carry.

Rex Enright has lost several of his best linemen through graduation or otherwise. Among them are Frank Minervitch, Collier's choice for all-American guard, Leon Cunningham, and Spec Granger. Although Carolina's line is not expected to be as strong as Clemson's, they are by no means weak.

Clemson's line-up will probably continue as it did against Rice with the exception of maybe Don King, who was sidelined with a knee injury. Howard is relying on Charlie Bussey to take over the key position with ease. Bussey, a 165 pound junior, is an excellent passer as well as a ball carrier. Jim Coleman, a flashy half-back has been moved to the quarterback position to help Bussey with all the work there.

The rest of the backfield is fairly well taken care of with Bill O'Dell, Joel Wells, and Joe Pagliel holding down the key positions. There is able assistance on the sidelines in Frank Griffith, Lem McLendon, and Doug Thompson.

The forward wall of the Clemson lineup is expected to be the stronger of the two teams. There is much weight from end to end. Joe Bowen and Walt Laraway will probably start at the ends while Dick Marazza and B. C. Inabinet will be at the tackle positions. The guard positions will find John Grdijan and Earl Greene as Capt. Wingo Avery goes over the ball.

McHugh Asks For More Swimmers for This Year's Team

The Y. M. C. A. swimming pool has been quite active in the last two weeks with the freshmen and upper-classmen trying for the Clemson swimming team. There were only twelve freshmen and two or three upper-classmen out as of last Tuesday afternoon.

Coach McHugh was disappointed with this small turnout and wishes that all interested swimmers, good or bad, would come out to let him judge them in accordance with their potentiality. He thinks that there are many boys enrolled at Clemson who would be a credit to the swimming team if they would only come out and try.

The swimming team now gets a large block letter and the members of the team eat on the training table. This is the first year that the team has been eligible for a large block letter.

Besides Coach McHugh's need of more swimmers, he also is very short of divers. Last year, he had only one diver to represent the entire team.

This year's schedule is a rough one and the swimming team will need all the help that they can get. There are big vacancies to be filled in the dash events as well as in the distance department.

The University of North Carolina and North Carolina State are on the schedule for the coming season and both teams are very strong. Besides these two teams Coach McHugh is planning to schedule nine other schools. Among these are University of South Carolina, Duke University, Wofford, and Emory. Maryland and Virginia are also on the schedule. Maryland for the first time with a brand new team.

"To help combat this schedule," says Coach McHugh, "I will need some good swimmers. These swimmers are enrolled at Clemson and will not come out (Continued on page 5)

Clemson Loses First Game Of Season To Rice Owls

Fumbles And Penalties Hurt Tiger Offense In Rice Game

By Louis Jordan

The Tigers have suffered their first loss of the season at the hands of a strong Rice eleven. Timely penalties and costly fumbles worked against the Country Gentlemen as they played in almost perfect football weather under the brilliant stadium lights.

Clemson, after journeying almost 1200 miles to the city of Houston, Texas, lost to the charges of an old Clemsonite, Jess Neely. Coach Neely was the head coach at Clemson College when Frank Howard began his coaching career in Tigerville. This game was a battle of "Silver Anniversary" coaches.

The big Texas stars were big and bright on Saturday night, but the Rice Owls seemed to have more in mind than poetry. They capitalized on early minute fumbles to get a lead which they never lost. For the first time this year the Tigers could not come from behind to win.

Co-Captains Don King and Wingo Avery won the toss at the pre-game ceremony and elected for the Tigers to receive the opening kick-off.

Receiving with his back to the wind, Joe Pagliei took the kick on his own 15 and returned it to the 31. From there Rice got its first break as Bill O'Dell fumbled on the second down.

The Owls tried the right side of the line and then to the left. The next three plays found the Owls on the Tigers 17 yard line. From there the Rice quarterback went to the air for a 17 yard scoring pass well over the heads of Avery and Wells. Hall converted for the Owls.

This put the Texans out in front 7-0 after only four minutes and two seconds of playing time.

Pagliei brought the ball back to the 31 again. For the second time disaster struck the Carolinians. This time Don King fumbled to pass but decided to run. He was hit hard and fumbled at the Tiger 28. The Owls recovered, and the Bengal team was in trouble twice without having gotten past their own 31 yard line.

After a series of penalties the Tigers took over at the 28. Wells, Pagliei and O'Dell moved the ball out of danger but Pagliei had to punt on a fourth down.

The Texans had the ball again, but in a different situation. They moved the ball to the Tiger 18 where the Clemson team held. The first quarter ended with both units playing almost full time.

To begin the second canto, the Tiger halfback, Wells almost made it first down as he brought the ball to the 26. Joel made the grade on the next play as he drove to the 29.

Wells came close to glory land as the last man in the Rice secondary caught him after a 12 yard carry. Clemson was at the 44 yard marker. Wells and O'Dell kept trying the same spot. O'Dell found space and went to the Rice 37. The Tiger team showed its fangs for the first time.

Following several Tiger attempts, it was fourth down and six at the Rice 21. The officials said that Clemson delayed so they stepped off five. King's fourth down pass was broken up. This stopped the Bengal's drive at the 26.

The Tigers got their first big break of the game as a Rice passer fumbled and Jack Bush covered it. The Clemsonites were unable to capitalize on this break as Coleman missed a first down by inches at the Rice 17.

With three minutes, twenty seconds left in the half, the Owls punted from their 40. The officials brought the ball back to the Clemson 45 yard line and gave Rice the ball without giving a penalty signal. Again the Owls had the advantage. They went to work and soon scored from the 28 marker. Hall again split the uprights to put the Owls out in front 14-0 with 2:06 seconds remaining.

number one man as he finished first in the time trials and also took first place in the meet with Duke.

Coach Norman's charges will meet a much stronger team than Duke this coming Saturday but have high hopes as to the results.

Wednesday afternoon before the freshman football game at Carolina, these same boys will challenge the Carolina team. Carolina also has a strong team, but again the Tiger lads favor themselves.

The probable starters for the two meets are based on their placement in the time trials. The men who will represent Clemson, named in the order they finished in the trials, are: Jackson, Bickens, Ventrella, Metz, Quattlebaum, Bramlette and Tinsley.

Jim Coleman drives around his right end for three yards against the Rice Owls in the game at Houston last Saturday. Coleman will be a wheelhorse in the coming game with Carolina.

Wells took the kickoff to return it 45 yards on a spectacular run back but fumbled and the Rice Owls luck held. Time ran out on them before they could move the pigskin far. The half ended with Rice leading the Clemson Tigers 14-0.

Dick Marazza opened the second half of the ball game with a beautiful kick into the Rice end zone. The Owls took over on the 20 yard stripe where, after a series of downs they punted from the 25. The ball went out of bounds at the Rice 44 and the Tigers were in the Owls territory.

Bussey tried to pass but could get nowhere with his running when he could find no receiver. His pass was deflected to the hands of a Rice secondary man and Clemson lost the ball after only two plays.

Rice had to punt after a series of plays and Pagliei fumbled but recovered at the three. Clemson was in the whole. On the third down after the fumble, Bussey connected on a long pass to Bower. The Tigers were out to the 34, and Wells thrilled the crowd with a 27 yard sprint to the Rice 39. This was the best run so far in the ball game.

Again the Tigers were in Owls' land. Wells, O'Dell and Pagliei ground out the remaining yards for the Tiger touchdown with O'Dell finishing the drive. Charlie Bussey's place kick split the goal posts for a perfect extra point. The Clemson team was back in the ball game trailing by one touchdown.

Rice received the kick-off and returned it to the 41. Bussey had to bring down a fleet Rice back at the Clemson 45. The play was good for a first down. The Owls drove to the 35 but John Grijian and Bill Hudson broke through the line to slam Rice for a 12 yard loss. The third quarter ended with Rice on the Clemson 47 and the score 14-7.

The Clemson offense had moved ahead of the Rice team in statistics during the third period. Clemson had 175 yards gained to the Rice 173. The Rice quarterback Hill quickly changed this as he skirted the Clemson end for 18 yards. Several penalties later found the Owls punting from their 37 yard line.

Duke Power Co. Veep To Address ASME On Nov. 8th

The Clemson Student Chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers held its second meeting of the school year on Tuesday, October 11, in the Student Center.

The chairman, Bill Rawl, announced that the Society would participate in the joint meeting of engineering professional clubs for the purpose of hearing a speech by a Duke Power Company vice-president—C. S. Reed. This joint meeting will be held in the Chemistry Auditorium on November 8.

The chairman also announced that Dr. Cook, of the School of Engineering, had released information pertaining to the prizes awarded for student research papers.

Plans for a drop-in party during the homecoming week-end were discussed, but no decision was reached.

It was decided that new members would wear plaques, but would not carry boxes. An initiation fee of $1.50 was decided upon. This informal initiation will begin October 24 and continue through the remainder of that week.

The regular meetings of the ASME from now on will be on the first and third Tuesdays of each month.

Six Clemson Men Cited At Camp

Six Clemson students were cited recently for "outstanding work" at summer camp.

Cadet Alfred H. Hudson, animal husbandry major from Bluffton, was named as the outstanding cadet of Co. "D", one of four companies.

F. C. Anderson, R. T. Tisdale, W. P. Heath, and A. H. Judson all fired expert on the U. S. rifle, caliber .30 M-1.

Cadet W. J. Purvis was Battalion Commander for the final review of the camp.

Intramural Volly Ball Games Now In Final Week

The finals in the intramural volleyball tournaments will begin Monday afternoon, October 17, at 4:15. There will be four teams competing in the finals which will be played on the volleyball courts on the old quad-rangle in front of the old barracks. The four teams selected to play in the finals were chosen on the basis of the number of games won plus the number of games forfeited. Some of the teams won one or two games and then did not show up for the rest of their scheduled games. This caused many of the teams to lose out before the finals started.

The teams that are on top so far are numbers 8, 25, 17 and 15. In the finals Monday team number 88 will play number 25 and number 17 will meet 15. The winners of these two games will play each other in a tournament which will be held the next day, Tuesday, at 4:15 at the same place.

Along with the volleyball games, there have been touch football games going on in the afternoons on Bowman Field. Soon there will be three more fields to permit a total of six games which can be in progress at the same time.

These fields will be located on the vacant area across from the front of the Field House.

Frosh Lose To Ga. Tech Baby Yellow Jackets

Clemson's Tiger Cubs were turned back in their quest for victory number two by the Georgia Tech Baby Engineers 25-14 in Memorial Stadium on Saturday night. The game, hidden from the crowd most of the first and fourth quarters by fog from the Seneca River bottoms, featured Tech's strong running attack and intercepted passes.

Floyd Faucette, Engineer quarterback, hit his halfback, Lester Simerville, with a 5 yard pass early in the second quarter after Clemson had fumbled to put the Georgia team out in front 6-0. Simerville also made the PAT.

The Cubs, not to be outdone, turned an intercepted Tech pass into a TD and tied up the game. Don Gilpin snared an Engineer pass and returned twelve yards to the Tech 37. Rudy Hayes, the Cubs' hard running halfback moved the ball 18 yards and a first down in three tries; then, Tech's Moseley connected with Buck Grover for 14 yards and the TD. Horace Turbeville converted, and the score was knotted at 7-7.

However, Georgia Tech placed three touchdowns back to back and put the game almost out of reach for the Cubs. Tim Singleton intercepted a Moseley pass in the third quarter and zig-zagged his way 81 yards to put the Engineers out in front. This time, the conversion was missed. After minutes in the fourth quarter, Tech had another TD with Bill McKinney scampering 47 yards with a blocked punt.

Tech's fourth and final touchdown came on a punt return by Singleton. Behind beautiful blocking, he danced his way down the field 66 yards to paydirt.

Not discouraged at all, the Cubs took the kickoff and marched straight down the field for 67 yards to make the score 25-14. A nine yard Moseley to Grover pass completed the drive.

Next week, in the traditional pre-State Fair classic, the Cubs take on an undefeated University of South Carolina Frosh, in Carolina Stadium.

The Biddies, undefeated in two games, are led by King Dixon, a high school All-American, from Laurens. Dixon, who weighs 165 pounds, averaged 12.9 yards per try in the Frosh's 25-7 win over Wake Forest in their first outing of the season. He also returned a punt 92 yards for a TD in the third quarter.

Rudy Hayes and Jim Stevens challenge Dixon in the running department for the Tiger Cubs. They and Ted Moseley have figured greatly in the Cubs' games thus far.

Last year the Cubs defeated the Biddies in the Wednesday night game. This year, the game

JOEL WELLS

Wells; Inabinet Get Awards For Last Week's Game

B. C. Inabinet, already named the outstanding lineman against PC, and Joel Wells, a workhorse for the Tigers all year, were named as the outstanding players in a losing cause at Rice last Saturday night.

Inabinet, "The Lovable Moose," was named for his outstanding job in the forward wall against the Texas foes. A six foot, six inch senior from Columbia, B. C. hopes to make the Carolina game his big one, since he will be playing in front of his home town folks.

B. C. has proved all of his 250 pounds worth this year with sterling play in all the games thus far. Last year, while he played behind All-Conference Clyde White, Inabinet stood out in both the Florida and Wake Forest games, outplaying Bob Bartholomew, the Deacons' brilliant tackle.

Promising both himself and his coaches that he could do it, he overcame his inconsistency of last year and came out of spring practice with a starting position almost sewn up. Because of his tremendous size, B. C. has become invaluable in both defensive line play and offensive downfield blocking. Brilliant in spring practice on both offense and defense, Joel Wells has developed into the rushing leader for the ACC this year.

After spring practice last year, Coach Carl Wise, Clemson's new backfield, said of Wells' defensive play, "He is as fine a tackling halfback as I have ever seen." From the experienced wise, this is indeed a compliment. He calls Wells a "phenom" in this department.

Not only has Wise said this, his observations were borne out last season, when Clemson was third in the nation in total defense due mostly to the work of Wells.

Wells' ability is not limited to the defensive side of the game, but as Wise said, "He can run with that football, and he can throw, too." Again Wise's observations are backed up with cold facts. In 1954 Wells led the Tigers with a 4.8 yards per try average in rushing. In passing Wells passed for one touchdown and 115 yards in completing exactly one-half of his attempted passes. Also from Columbia, Wells is a junior this year and has been playing first string since the third game of his sophomore year. He was rated the flashiest of all the backs in spring practice.

With these two boys leading the Tigers this year, Clemson should have the best year since its undefeated season of 1950.

These two Capital City men will receive the Abbott's Sports Award for the past week. Through the courtesy of Mr. Abbott of Abbott's Men's Shop in Clemson and Seneca, Inabinet and Wells will receive a shirt for their nomenclature as the outstanding players of the week.

Band Plans Big Half-Time Program

The Clemson Tiger Band has been working hard for the last few weeks on a special program to be given at the half-time ceremonies at the Clemson-Carolina game next Thursday. This program promises to be one of the best ever put on at the State Fair Classic.

For months Mr. Robert Lovett, the band director, has been planning and preparing the costumes and field events. One pair of the costumes for the band had to be ordered from over fifty different companies all over the United States.

Every night the Tiger Band has put in at least an hour and a half at the stadium practicing. They are said to be as good or better than any Clemson band before them.

Mr. Lovett has spared no expense in gathering material for the show. As yet there has been no release as to exactly what the program will contain, but some of the members say that it will be a comedy given as a take-off on the State Fair contest.

At a practice session Tuesday night Mr. Lovett stated "I promise this to be as good, if not better, than any half-time show the Clemson-Carolina fans have seen in quite a few years."

ing offense, connecting for 272 yards and two touchdowns.

The Clemson Tigers are tops in pass defense, allowing only 14 completions for an average of 43.5 yards. They are third in both total offense and rushing offense.

Don King and Charlie Bussey have led the Tigers to second din pass offense.
